LITIGATION GRAPHICS
ojeffers@decisionquest.com

Olivia Jeffers is based in Dallas and is Vice President of DecisionQuest's Strategic Litigation Graphics Division. For over 20 years, she has provided trial consulting services to attorneys and their clients on hundreds of litigation matters involving antitrust, contracts, employment, insurance, personal injury, product liability, securities, medical malpractice and toxic torts. She has a strong following of clients that deal in environmental and intellectual property within the oil and gas industry.

Ms. Jeffers helps trial teams develop case themes and strategies for bench and jury trials, mediations, arbitrations, hearings and meetings as well as mock trial research exercises.

Ms. Jeffers is an expert in communication consulting for litigation matters and specializes in the visualization of complex and technical concepts. She works internally with media artists to conceptualize unique and compelling demonstratives for her clients. Depending on the complexity of the case, Ms. Jeffers will recommend and oversee any number of presentation formats including Power-Point, 3D animations and video production. She also provides her clients with the most advanced computer-based courtroom presentations to help the triers-of-fact understand even the most intricate information. Ms. Jeffers also works with experienced Presentation Technology Specialists to help ensure your documentary evidence, audio, video and demonstratives are easily accessed and projected in the court.

EDUCATION

Ms. Jeffers graduated Cum Laude with a Bachelor of Science from Texas Woman's University and spent time living abroad in both Paris and Rome.
